North County Health Services recently gave its website a makeover.

The goal of the new look, launched May 3, is to bring attention to the quality of care the community health clinic provides as well as bring a fresh, clean look that is easier for patients to navigate.

“As a community health center, we want people to know we are quality being ranked as one of the top health centers in San Diego County, and our website needed to reflect this,” Director of Communications Amy Ventetuolo said.

“With new functionality including Spanish bilingual capabilities, a mobile-responsive version and new look and feel, we are pleased to share it with our community and hope it will serve as a go-to resource.”

North County Health Services serves more than 60,000 patients annually at 10 community health centers in Carlsbad, Encinitas, Oceanside, San Marcos and Ramona, and through two mobile clinics. Private insurances, Medi-Cal and
